

ATLANTA'S ANNUAL OPERA SEASON OPENS TONIGHT; STARS OF "LA GIOCONDA" RECEIVE WARM WELCOME

Fire Does $300,000 Damage at Gainesville

15 HOUSES GUTTED, 10 FIRMS DAMAGED IN SERIOUS BLAZE

Flames, Discovered at 6 O'clock in Hunt Opera House, Had Gained Much Headway.

H E L P - SUMMONED FROM OTHER TOWNS

Low Water Pressure, High Wind Caused Fire To Burn Through Whole Block Before Controlled.

BY ALBERT HARDY, JR., Staff Correspondent.

Gainesville, Ga., April 19.—(Special.)—Damage, estimated at $300,000, was done here today by fire which totally destroyed 15 buildings, and damaged by fire and water 10 others. The fire was discovered this afternoon at 6 o'clock, eastern time, after it had gained considerable headway, in the second story of the Hunt opera house, a four-story brick building.

The fire was brought under control by the local fire department at 8 o'clock tonight.

Buildings Destroyed.

The business establishments completely gutted are: Hunt opera house, Smith's cafe, Dobbs' fruit store, State theater, C. R. Hammond, jeweler; Stringer Brothers Ice Cream and Soda parlor, Odell's grocery store, W. A. Miller, farm implements; E. H. Perry, grocery; Army Supply store, B. B. Brannon, groceries; T. N. Girard, groceries; and Georgia Railroad and Power company's office.

These stores were situated on the northwest corner of the square and faced Washington and Green streets.

Stores That Were Damaged.

The stores damaged more or less by fire and water are: Doctors' building, 2 stories; Harry K. Tucker, clothing; Citizens bank; White, Stone & Moore furniture company; Pierce's barber shop; J. D. Hardy & Sons seed store; L. O. Barron, shoe shop, and residences of Mrs. P. E. B. Robinson and A. G. Boyd.

The flames were fanned by a stiff wind, and with a low water pressure Fire Chief W. E. Smith soon realized that his local fire equipment would not be able to cope with the fire and a call was sent to the fire departments of nearby towns for aid. Cornelia, Winde, Buford and Atlanta responded and sent equipment, but the fire was under control by the time they reached here.

In Atlanta, the Southern railroad made up a special train and rushed aid to Gainesville.

No Casualties Reported.

Local police placed the fire territory under patrol, and there were no casualties. Practically the entire population rushed to the fire, and every citizen did everything possible to help in bringing the flames under control.

The greatest loss was the four-story Hunt building and the State theater, a local movie house which opened a few months ago after having been rebuilt following a fire. In addition to other equipment, a handsome pipe organ was destroyed.

Mayor H. H. Dean tonight expressed appreciation of the prompt manner in which Georgia towns responded to Gainesville's call for aid and stated that "bigger and better buildings will at once be erected on the burned area."

The walls of the Hunt building, which collapsed, slightly injured H. R. Smith, son of fire chief, W. E. Smith, who had a narrow escape from being crushed. The falling walls of this building damaged the Citizens' bank and the Piedmont Drug company.

Goods from many of the buildings

AIRMEN CREMATED IN BOMBING PLANE FIRED BY RIFLEMEN

London, April 19.—(Special.)—Natives here have brought a British bombing plane down in flames near the Syrian frontier, according to a dispatch from Bagdad. Two machines crashed during the bombing operations, which were carried out above villages in the Sinjar mountains and south of Salimayeh.

Two airmen died in the burned plane.

Wedding Rites Mark Epworth League Meet

Leaders of Society Furnish Surprise to Friends at Trinity.

Marriage rites Sunday night proved the very latest feature of an Epworth league program. Members of the league at Trinity Methodist church had completed the regular program Sunday night and awaited the usual prayer and dismissal from their president Robert Holcomb.

"Doctor, I'm ready," was his surprising statement and Rev. Wallace Rogers, pastor of the church, walked to the platform with Miss Ruth Robertson, an active leader of the league. A brief marriage ceremony followed and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holcomb left hurriedly on their honeymoon, destination unknown.

Mrs. Holcomb is a beautiful and popular member of Atlanta's younger set, in addition to being an active church and league worker. She is a native of Luthersville.

The groom is a prominent young business man of this city.

CHATTER OF COUP BRANDED AS LIES BY HINDENBURG

Grizzled Old Field Marshal "Hoched" as He Makes First Extended Speech of Campaign.

Hanover, Germany, April 19.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg is sick of war and its miseries and in a speech before a audience of foreign reporters and many grizzled comrades who won their iron crosses with him or under his command, the veteran soldier characterized as nonsensical "all this chatter about the alleged military reaction expressed in my candidacy."

Hindenburg's discussion of foreign affairs dealt chiefly with the "war guilt lie," the Germans call the paragraph in the treaty of Versailles which heaps on their soldiers all responsibility for bringing the scourge of 1914-18 to Europe.

Denies Monarchy Coup.

Unless the idea of Germany's sole responsibility for the war is admitted to be false, Hindenburg said, his aim of assuring to the German nation full sovereignty and freedom in its place among nations could not be achieved. Then the marshal turned to the reports that he would undertake to effect a reactionary coup or other dangerous moves if he were elected president.

"All lies," he said.

Hindenburg's speech was a sermon on unity and protection of the fatherland.

"Work with God for our German fatherland," shouted Hindenburg, thrusting his great hand above his head. His German hearers leaped to their feet in unbounded enthusiasm.

"Hurrah for Fatherland."

"Hurrah for the fatherland," Hindenburg shouted again. The hurrah was echoed from every German throat while decorations tinkled in the din as their owners "hoched" the victor of Tannenberg.

"It would be a beautiful ending for my life," Hindenburg said in recalling that it had been his good fortune to keep the enemy away from German borders. "If I could see the nation a nation united as it was before."

The marshal begged the foreign reporters to appreciate the spirit of unity and nationalism manifested by the consolidation of the right parties. It was their appeal to his "sense of duty," Hindenburg continued, "that overcame my original hesitation to accept the candidacy."

Build for German Welfare. If elected, the veteran vowed to set his whole strength to building for the German welfare. As president he said he would know only one duty—"Doing his best on the foundation of the constitution for the fatherland." He promised to do his utmost to aid the classes that had suffered most since the revolution and declared his belief in a "just wage" for labor.

Germany cannot recover economically until its standing in the world is restored, he believes, and to restore it, he would revive Germany's peace collaboration in the world's progress.

With his close-cropped white pompadour bristling above his forehead and his gray walrus moustache sweeping above his lips, Hindenburg was a striking figure. He was dressed in black and wore not one of the scores of decorations to which he is entitled.

Tonight, at 8 o'clock the great red curtains of the Metropolitan Opera company will roll aside at the auditorium, disclosing the opening scene of "La Gioconda."

Six thousand enraptured sons and daughters of the south will sit spell-bound in their seats as the voluptuous tones of Ponselle soar through the great building; as the glorious contralto of Jeanne Gordon rises in golden purity; as the crystal tenor notes pour forth from the throat of Lauri-Volpi, the new star; as Jose Mardones rolling bass thunders out, and as Giuseppe Danise, great baritone, excels past performances.

Mardones, Lauri-Volpi and Miss Gordon arrived Sunday afternoon at Brookwood station from New York. Rosa Ponselle is already here, having reached the city from San Francisco last Friday.

Billy Guard Here.

Billy Guard, greatest and most lovable of public men, came with the Sunday afternoon arrivals. Billy, just the same as ever, noseless, goatee, flowing bow tie and all the geniality and friendliness which has made him in past years about the most important feature of the entire operatic week to the newspaper men.

This morning, just as day broke, special trains from New York bearing the balance of the great Metropolitan Opera company reached the Terminal station. Stars, conductors, orchestra, chorus, ballet, stage directors and all the other members of the tremendous organization detrained and, after a quick breakfast, began preparations which will result in perfection of the performance tonight—the singers to rest, the stage crew to work, and the musicians to revel in their warm southern sunshine.

As Atlanta's fifteenth annual season of grand opera opens, the prospects for artistic, financial and social success are brighter than ever before. The program furnished by the Atlanta Music Festival and the Metropolitan Opera company is probably better balanced and contains more genuine interest to music lovers than any of several years. Never was a greater galaxy of singers listed on one week's program. Four of the operas to be given include the wonderful Metropolitan ballet. Four of the greatest living conductors, including Serafin, the

Alleged Negro "Pie" Burglar Caught Red-Handed by Police

BY BILL MAHONEY.

"Burglars!" That meaningful phrase of one word sent two call officers scurrying to the restaurant and soft drink stand of Ida Jones, negro woman, 113-A Houston street, early Sunday morning.

Emergency circumstances under ordinary circumstances would have produced a more noticeable response. Without so much as a nod of recognition the negro continued to munch his stolen pie, turning his eyes, with evident greediness, to an inviting array of soft drinks.

"Hey!" Officer Lowe roared, prodding the negro in the neck with his gun. "Are you deaf, drunk or just plumb dead?"

The black boy shook himself and leaped, shakily, to his feet—much as a bleary-eyed specimen of "the morning-after" responds to the unaccounted-for tink of a new alarm clock.

"Beg your pardon, boss! I was ever's day—But he didn't finish the off-tail (tale that originated with Ham, or whoever founded the African empire).

He not only stopped short in his explanation, but clapped, an additional handful of pie into his mouth—framing it in a white, sea-foamy mass. He swallowed hard and, while Officer Lowe coked a grin behind his hand, continued:

"I see just naugry, boss! Aint et for most two days."

"Well, why didn't you ask somebody for a feed? Begging is better than stealing."

"But, boss, who's gonna give a heathen-looking nigger like me a feed?"

There was nothing for the officers to do but arrest the negro on a charge of burglary, but Recorders Callaway and Holloway, in police court, have a way of showing clemency in extreme cases.

Provided the black boy, who gave the name of Charlie Mitchell, can show sufficient grounds for being in his present predicament the penalty may not be of the severest.

Incidentally some generous soul—hearing the story—supplied him with a quantity of delectable victuals before breakfast-time Sunday.

CELTARTOWN HAS $70,000 BLAZE

6 PERSONS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Palace Theater, Owned by T. F. Thompson, Gutted. Adjacent Buildings and Many Films Saved.

Cedartown, April 19.—(Special.)—The Palace theater of this city was gutted by fire at an early hour this morning, with an estimated loss of about $70,000.

The interior was in full blaze before discovered and the roof was falling in before the fire department arrived. The origin of the fire is unknown.

T. F. Thompson, the owner, reports that he has about $25,000 insurance and it will be several months before he can open again. The brick walls apparently are not damaged. The Palace tea room and other adjacent properties including several thousand dollars' worth of films were saved.

This is the biggest fire Cedartown has had for years.

DAWES' ASSAULT ON SENATE RULES GOES TO 'PEEPUL'

Vice President Carries Fight to Strongholds of Adversaries in Many States.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, April 19.—Vice President Charles G. Dawes, the Billy Sunday of the Coolidge administration, has embarked on a series of revival meetings in pursuance of his efforts to reform the ancient senate rules which he launched with sensational effect inauguration day.

Senators who don't want to get salvation have no business within the range of Dawes this summer. Already one senator has hit the sawdust trail for him and others opposed or non-committal on his plan of reform probably will resort to illness, broken down automobiles, funerals of grandmothers and similar alibis when the peppery general reaches their territory.

Dawes speaks in New York Tuesday at a luncheon given to leading newspaper editors and publishers of the country by the Associated Press and expects to do right well in the matter of pleading converts.

Butler "First Convert."

His first senatorial convert was the very man who did everything in his power to keep Dawes out of the vice presidency—William M. Butler of Massachusetts. Dawes must have indulged himself a large inward chuckle when, on arising to speak at Boston Saturday, his eye fell on the hard-boiled countenance of his former adversary. Dawes was nominated at the Cleveland convention over Butler's prostrate body. Butler, acting as the president's manager, tried one candidate after another, but they either quit him or failed to win a majority of the delegates.

ONE KILLED, 7 HURT WHEN CABLE SNAPS FROM VIBRATIONS

Baltimore, Md., April 19.—One boy was killed and seven other persons were injured this afternoon when a cable snapped on a suspension bridge at Orange Grove, about 14 miles from this city. The bridge is 400 feet long and is used for pedestrians.

According to witnesses, 42 persons were crossing the span when a number of children in the center were jumping to make the bridge vibrate. A large cable snapped and most of the pedestrians were thrown into the river, a drop of 25 feet. The water is about five feet deep and jagged with large rocks.

The accident covered by the police report was the one in which Mann was injured. He reported to Acting Assistant Police Chief C. P. Connally that the driver of the automobile gave him the name of C. R. Tucker, but did not give his address. Mann's

Bishop Brown and Guthrie Bow Before Bishop Manning

BY ROBERT D. LISK.

New York, April 19.—Bishop William Montgomery Brown, the convicted heretic, and the Rev. Dr. William Norman Guthrie, the radical modernist, have bowed down before the mandate of the fundamentalist Episcopal leader, Bishop William T. Manning, of the diocese of New York.

After dramatizing their threat of defiance by advertising that Bishop Brown would speak at St. Mark's in-the-Bouwerie Sunday afternoon, in spite of Manning's orders to the contrary, the Rev. Dr. Guthrie announced just before the close of the symposium that "in deference to Bishop Manning, Bishop Brown would not talk until Wednesday night and then at a public hall."

Believing that the announced defiance of Manning would precipitate a bitter modernist-fundamentalist battle, which probably would result in Guthrie's trial by an ecclesiastical court, thousands of persons stormed the Little East Side chapel to hear Bishop Brown defend his alleged heresy in Guthrie's church. Throughout a two-hour service the crowds waited for the former bishop of Arkansas to deliver his plea. Curtains were drawn before the altar, and as Dr. Guthrie denounced at length the ecclesiastical court that had convicted the western bishop of heresy, he was interrupted time and again by the cheers of the congregation which demanded that Brown, who occupied a chair on the rostrum, stand up.

By a skilful play of words and a happy mixing of logic, theology, science and reason, Guthrie worked his audience to a dramatic pitch. Then, without warning, he announced that he and Bishop Brown had decided that the latter should not speak. The disappointment of the congregation was audible. Many rose to leave.

"My sympathies are with Bishop Brown," Guthrie declared. "I planned this meeting, knowing that I was within my rights. I know my canons. The canons of the Episcopal church are out of date."

"This is a secular meeting, and there is no law against Bishop Brown or anyone else I might invite speaking at a secular meeting."

When Bishop Brown wrote his letter to Bishop Manning, telling him of his intention to speak at St. Mark's in-the-Bouwerie today, he was acting in good faith. He was startled and hurt by the answer of Bishop Manning in telling him that he would not sanction his appearing here to talk on any subject.

Then, with his congregation still in the belief that Brown would speak, Dr. Guthrie said:

"But because Bishop Manning has made it apparent that I will displease him, Bishop Brown and I have agreed that it is wisest not to carry out the program as announced. Bishop Brown will speak Wednesday evening at the Community house."

"I did not say that Bishop Brown would speak," Dr. Guthrie said after the service in explaining that he had merely beat a strategic retreat. "I gave out a statement saying that it was legal for him to speak. I am not responsible for the fact that the conclusion was drawn that he would speak."

"We made the decision Saturday afternoon out of courtesy for Bishop Manning and strategy for Bishop Brown. It was pure, good, honorable strategy. You remember that I defied the bishop to bring me to trial for the service in my church of which he did not approve. But I do not propose to be tried for another man's quarrel."

Great Falls, Mont., April 19.—When the trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler on charges of wrongfully using influence with the interior department, is resumed here in federal court tomorrow, attention will be centered on the testimony of Peter Nye, Washington lawyer, who arrived here today in response to a subpoena.

Mr. Nye, who is an associate of George W. Chamberlain in the practice of law in Washington, is believed to be the government's surprise witness, referred to in the opening statement of District Attorney Slattery to the jury hearing the case. Mr. Slattery declared that he would produce a lawyer who would testify that Senator Wheeler came to him and asked him to appear for Gordon Campbell, Wheeler's Montana client involved in the case, before the de-

MOTHER AND SON VICTIMS OF CUTS

Tell Police That Wounds Were Inflicted by Husband of Woman Following Quarrel.

A family quarrel was brought to an end Sunday night when the mother and son were taken to Grady hospital with knife wounds and the father disappeared.

According to the story told police by the mother, Delia Roper, 43, and her son, A. B. Thomas, 50, Hayden street, since she had separated from her second husband for some time.

About 30 days ago, however, she agreed to permit her husband's return on a promise of good behavior. All went well until Sunday night when the husband arrived at the house in a state of intoxication, it is said, and picked a quarrel with his step-son.

A scuffle ensued in which Mrs. Roper was stabbed through the right forearm and her son slashed across the left ear.

The husband disappeared when ambulance and police arrived and is still missing.

ORDER IN LISBON AFTER UPRISING

Lisbon, April 19.—Order has been restored in Lisbon after 48 hours of revolutionary turmoil.

Loyal troops suppressed the uprising in a sharp street battle in which 20 persons were killed and 300 wounded and the revolutionaries surrendered without conditions after their headquarters was assaulted in force by the troops.

Fifteen hundred persons suspected of having been implicated in the abortive revolution were arrested by government troops Sunday.

Following the arrest of these men and their confinement in fortresses, the situation reverted to normal.

It was the plan of the rebels to substitute a military dictatorship for President Gomez's government. It has been learned from documents and confessions.

Following the outbreak of Friday night, which developed guerrilla street warfare, the government presented an ultimatum to the rebels demanding their surrender Saturday evening.

The time limit expired and government troops who had surrounded the revolutionary headquarters within the city immediately began a bombardment to which the rebels replied until their position became untenable.

More deaths may have resulted than the official communique indicated, as it was issued Sunday only a few hours after firing had ceased. That minor battles elsewhere in the city may have caused other deaths is not unlikely.

President Gomez proclaimed a state of siege and imposed military government on the country as soon as the stubborn intention of the rebels to compel a decision at arms became apparent. The one-sided battle soon was decided in favor of the government.

About five weeks have intervened between the latest revolutionary outbreak and its immediate predecessor. Peace now has been restored but whether for a day, a week or a month cannot be told.

GOMEZ REFUSES TO SURRENDER

London, April 19.—An ultimatum demanding resignation of the Portuguese government was served on President Gomez as the first gust of revolution broke over Lisbon, according to a dispatch to the Central News.

Gomez replied by mobilizing loyalist troops and delivering a counter-ultimatum demanding the revolutionists' surrender. The loyal troops were concentrated around the rebels' position which was hazardous.

Manuel Teixeira Gomez relinquished his post as Portuguese minister to Great Britain in 1923 to become president of his country. He was extremely popular in London and was escorted to Lisbon by a British warship. It was hoped that this open display of British approval would help to curb the enthusiasm of Portuguese citizens for bloody attempts to remove from office whoever happened to be there and to set up in their place others subject to like removal.

President Gomez's months of office have been spotted with abortive rebellions such as have characterized Portugal since 1910, when the scandal of Gaby Deslys and her pearls broke over the head of the then King Manuel and forced him from his throne. The revolutionaries of 1910 established a republic which has survived several monarchist assaults.

FAMOUS GEORGIA WOMAN IS DEAD

New York, April 19.—Mrs. Victoria Elizabeth Rembert Hall, 88, a relative of John C. Calhoun and other famous men of the old south, died at her home at Southampton, L. I., yesterday. Death came as the result of a bad fall last December.

She was related to Lyman Hall, first governor of Georgia and a signer of the Declaration of Independence, John C. Calhoun, General William Porter Rembert, of the Confederate army, and Senator and General Robert Toombs, of Georgia.

Mrs. Hall was born at Elberton, Ga., a town founded by her father. In the civil war while still a young girl, she saved General Toombs, of the Confederate army, from the union forces, by seizing the bridle of a commandant of a detachment of union troops, holding him back until the general had escaped. In consequence of this, her home was burned and everything of value taken.

Mrs. Hall is survived by a son, Lyman Hall, of this city. Plantations in northern Georgia, Tallulah Falls and the Rembert groves on the St. John's river, Florida, are left to him.

Bulgar Revolt More Serious Than Official Dispatches From Sofia Have Indicated

Newspaper Men Gagged and Prevented From Telling True State of Affairs, London Hears.

BY CHARLES M. McCANN.

London, April 19.—Uncensored news leaking through the military barriers surrounding Bulgaria indicates that a revolution is in progress before the eyes of gagged newspapermen. Travelers aboard the Orient express, which has just reached Belgrade, are believed to have brought the most authentic news of Bulgarian politics since the censorship was established.

Peasants and communists have overthrown the government and seized control in several interior districts where troops were few. The officials of these areas have been driven away, according to the travelers' accounts telegraphed from Belgrade.

Pass Through Line of Fire. The Orient express passed through an almost unbroken line of fire from the time it entered Bulgaria until it crossed the opposite frontier. Communists and agrarians were on one side of the right of way and government troops on the other. The rebels are armed with antiquated weapons and, for this reason, the eye witnesses of Bulgaria's unrest believe that the present uprising will be crushed within two weeks.

Premier Zankoff ordered out the national militia to defend his government from a general rebellion. The response to Zankoff's call exceeded the hopes of the premier. Almost to a man, the militia turned out under arms, although some of them lacked uniforms. These men with the regular army are more than enough to cope with the rebels, it is believed.

Communication Suspended. Telegraph and telephone communication between Belgrade and Sofia and other European capitals has been suspended by order of the Bulgarian military authorities. The censorship of communication with the outside world is paralleled by strict news censorship within the country. Newspapers are not permitted to recount the events subsequent to the explosion in the Strel Kral cathedral. Public opinion in Bulgaria is alarmed and this measure is designed to prevent further excitement of popular fear.

Efforts of a party of Jugo-Slav correspondents to cross the Bulgarian frontier to learn what actually is occurring, were frustrated by Bulgarian troops. Similar information comes from Greece on the other side of Bulgaria. Civil war is full swing, according to a dispatch from Athens. Agrarians and communists have formed guerilla bands in mountain-side refuges and are harassing government troops throughout the country. Three thousand agrarians and communists have been arrested in Sofia.

Police Raids Continue. Police raids are continuing in Sofia, according to grape vine intelligence received in Berlin. A street demonstration against the Zankoff government was dispersed by the police. Many so-called students have been arrested when their passports proved to be unsatisfactory. Rome contributes the information that King Boris has expressed a resolve to resist such a move would pacify the turbulent peasantry. Reports and rumors of events in Bulgaria speed around Europe, but the true state of affairs cannot be ascertained until the censor begins accepting for transmission to the outside world messages other than those communicated by the words of government communiques.

SIX PERSONS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

left leg was severely bruised and he and other bruises about the body. The accident occurred on Luckie street, near Simpson street.

Mrs. Thompson Hurt. Mrs. Thompson told doctors at the Grady hospital that she was thrown against the windshield and injured when the automobile her husband was driving down an incline, near Lakeview, left the road and ran into a house, her husband escaped injury, she said.

A. E. Freen had his hand badly smashed as the door of an automobile was closed on it. Examination at the hospital showed that no bones were broken.

The two Lovejoy citizens were injured, they told hospital authorities, in a collision between an automobile and a motor truck. Both were badly bruised.

Mrs. Melton suffered a lacerated scalp, but she did not inform doctors of the details of the accident. Little Hurt. Evelyn Pharr, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pharr, 111 Broyles street, is in Davis-Fischer in a serious condition, as a result of an automobile collision on Peachtree street, near Brookwood station, early Saturday night. The car in which the child was riding was driven by her mother while the driver of the second machine which figured in the accident could not be located as no report was filed at police headquarters.

The child was thrown against the windshield of the car, and the broken glass cut a long gash across her throat. Mrs. Pharr was coming toward Atlanta, it is said, while the other automobile was outboard. The cause of the accident was not revealed. Three of the occupants of the Pharr machine were injured slightly.

CAPITAL LAWYER ACQUITS WHEELER

partment of the interior in seeking oil prospecting permits. According to Mr. Slattery, the Montana senator promised to divide a generous fee with the lawyer if the latter would appear in the place of Wheeler before the interior department, in a claim regarded as being worth "millions of dollars." Slattery said Wheeler told the lawyer that (Wheeler) did not wish to make an appearance at that time before the government department.

Since then Mr. Slattery has refused to confirm or deny that the witness referred to is Mr. Nye. However, on arrival here today, Mr. Nye declared that if the government asked him to "tell such a tale as that, they are in for a big surprise, for nothing of the sort ever happened, as far as I know."

"Certain it is," Mr. Nye told newspapermen, "Senator Wheeler never made any such appeal to me. A never talked to him but once in my life, and the conversation did not last more than ten minutes. That talk had to do with the financial troubles of Gordon Campbell. To say Wheeler offered me a 50-50 share in any land or compensation whatever is just poppycock. He never even suggested any such thing."

were removed and placed on a nearby lot, and are tonight being patrolled, in addition to the police force, by members of the Paul E. Holding post, by Legionary scouts and cadets from Riverside academy.

Water Supply Exhausted. Water from the city reservoir was exhausted before the fire was under control and the supply from the cotton mills was utilized. While the fire approached within 100 feet of their offices, telephone operators remained unflinchingly at their posts, and, at the request of Mayor H. H. Dean, notified citizens of the city that the water was unfit for drinking purposes unless it was first boiled. The city reservoir should be ready to supply the city's needs by Monday night, it is stated.

Several large telephone cables were snapped by the flames and a fourth of the telephone subscribers were without service. Additional supplies and cables were rushed from Atlanta Sunday night, however, and normal telephone service will be restored immediately, it was stated. Mayor H. H. Dean tonight expressed appreciation of the prompt manner in which Georgia towns responded to Gainesville's call for aid, and stated that "bigger and better buildings will at once be erected on the burned area."

Chief W. B. Cody, of the Atlanta fire department, took one fire truck from station No. 1 with 17 men and 2,000 feet of hose to Gainesville Sunday night, but arrived after the flames were under control, despite a record run.

C. G. Beck, Georgia manager for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, Sunday night paid tribute to the heroism of Gainesville telephone operators in remaining at their posts while the flames threatened almost to their building. He also stated he was rushing men and supplies to Gainesville to restore the crippled service.

CHATTER OF COUP BRANDED AS LIES

entitled. Across the vast expanse of his waistcoat swung a heavy silver chain.

Dominated His Audience. The old war leader was in sharp contrast to the many bearded junkies and military men who followed him to the scene of the mechanical precision of a college rooming section. Hindenburg wore the poker face acquired in long years of campaigning, with his reputation depending on the luck and strategy of war. His voice is not strong, but the man's platform presence is commanding as that of a lion in a cage. He dominated the hall as he dominated his armies.

"With God's help we will come forward," rolled from his lips with attention force sufficient to have commanded the attention of a regiment. Again when he spoke of his sacrifice in accepting the empire bloc candidacy, the old man spoke with reverberating emphasis. His 78 years were not apparent as he stood before his friends and the reporters.

Keeps Sphinx Expression. Almost throughout, Hindenburg maintained the expression of the sphinx. Even when the representatives of various parties smothered and almost mauled him in their efforts to praise and thank him for what he was doing, Hindenburg was no more moved than was his wooden statue in Berlin when the good Berliners came during the war to swarm over it with their nails.

Once when Admiral Schroeder, a white-haired, old tar, as much a seaman as Hindenburg is a soldier, and an old-time enemy of the marshal, shook hands with his friend and winked away tears from his eyes as he

MISS BERRY WINS ROOSEVELT MEDAL

MISS MARTHA BERRY.

New York, April 19.—The Roosevelt Memorial association today announced that Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania; George Bird Grinnell, of New York; editor of Forest and Stream; and Miss Martha Berry, of Mount Berry, Ga., have been awarded the Roosevelt medals for 1925.

Governor Pinchot was chosen for his service in the cause of conservation; Mr. Grinnell for his promotion of outdoor life, and Miss Berry for her work in advancing the welfare of women and children in the mountain districts of her state. All three were friends of President Roosevelt.

The medals will be presented by President Coolidge at the white house on May 15.

swore allegiance, there was a flicker of emotion on the candidate's face. Not once did this massive man, who had sworn allegiance to the kaiser, speak of the republic. He mentioned the constitution and pledged himself not to attempt a coup against the existing regime, but when it came to rolling the name of the despised government that succeeded the Hohenzollerns, he hesitated, the marshal was mute. He got through his speech without need to say the word.

DAWES' ASSAULT GOES TO 'PEEPUL'

headed by young Senator David Reed of Pennsylvania, said, "It must be Dawes."

Butler retorted, "It can't be Dawes." It was Dawes. So when the vice president finished his attack on the senate rules in his luncheon address he looked hard at Senator Butler and said: "I am going to appeal to you as part of Senator Butler's constituency to express your opinion on senate rules. All of you who are here ought to be changed, get up."

After all had been seated again, Dawes again turned to Butler: "I want to hear what Senator Butler has to say about this."

The trapped senator proclaimed himself a real reformer. He wants the freedom of debate restricted somewhat so that the length of senate speeches at critical moments will be measured by the limit of physical exhaustion. Under the present system a senator can talk as long as his tongue will function—unless two-thirds of the senate vote to limit debate. After that, each senator has the right to speak for one hour before a vote can be taken.

There has been practically no check on the freedom of debate save the conscience of the individual senators and their powers of endurance. La Follette holds the record for the speaking marathon. He lasted 18 hours and twenty minutes during a currency debate in 1908. Other long senate speeches include those by Paulkner, West Virginia, on the force bill in 1901, fifteen hours; Allen, Nebraska, silver repeal, 1883, fourteen hours; Carter, Montana, rivers and harbors, 1901, fourteen hours; Jones, Washington, ship purchase bill in 1915, thirteen hours and thirty-five minutes; Burton, of Ohio, (new congressman) rivers and harbors, 1914, twelve hours and 10 minutes; Smoot, Underwood tariff, 1913, eleven hours and thirty-five minutes.

Dawes is seeking to mobilize public pressure on the senate. Only the senators themselves, by a majority vote, can change their rules. Senators are divided on the wisdom of the change aside from the element of chaos injected by the manner in which Dawes raised the issue in his inaugural address. One group of senators believe the rules are obsolete. Another group feels that they are the only refuge against a minority. If any reform is achieved, it will be only after a bitter fight.

Accidents! Accidents! Still They Come

And still they come. Listed in imposing array in almost every daily paper; telling of death and injury and suffering—Accidents!

Who'll be next? Will your name be in the list tomorrow? No one can answer these questions—but everyone can protect himself and his loved ones against emergencies that cannot be foreseen.

The solution of the problem of every thoughtful man and woman who has the comfort and welfare of his or her loved ones at heart is the great $5,000 Travel Accident Insurance policy offered its subscribers by The Constitution.

It costs only $1 per year in addition to the regular subscription rates of The Daily and Sunday Constitution, and it provides the following sweeping features: $5,000 travel accident death, the policy increasing 10 per cent per year to $7,500 in five years; $2,000 automobile death, the policy increasing 10 per cent per year to $3,000 in five years; $1,000 travel accident death, the policy increasing 10 per cent per year to $1,500 in five years; large sums for permanent injuries, and $10 work indemnity for disability for a period of fifteen weeks resulting from certain specified accidents.

No southern newspaper offers so generous a protective opportunity. Don't take a chance; play safe. Look in this issue for an advertisement describing the sensational offer in full; then phone, write or visit the insurance department of The Constitution, and get your protection.

FOUR-LINE RAIL MERGER CONNECTS SOUTHWEST

New Orleans, La., April 19.—The New Orleans Times-Picayune publishes a story in its issue of today which says that a four-line rail merger is contemplated whereby the Union Pacific railroad, the Missouri, Kansas & Texas system, the Kansas City Southern railroad and the Louisiana Railway and Navigation company will be brought under one operating policy, to be effected by purchase of the Louisiana Railway and Navigation company by the Kansas City Southern.

The paper's article further indicates that a large sum will be expended for rehabilitation of the physical properties of the L. R. & N., including terminal development at New Orleans, with probable extension of the L. R. & N. of Texas, from McKinney, Texas, to Fort Worth, to connect with Western rail system and the Katy lines in Texas.

R. M. McMahon, of Greenville, Texas, general attorney for the L. R. & N. of Texas, the Katy system and other Texas lines, has been in New Orleans for two days conferring with Judge R. E. Milling, general solicitor for the L. R. & N. Mr. McMahon last night declared that a practical consolidation of the four lines will be effected.

While declining to make any formal statement as to the status of the deal, Mr. McMahon intimated that it would be consummated shortly, and that both the Louisiana and Texas properties of the L. R. & N. would be taken over.

TEN GERMANS DIE WHEN AVALANCHE BURIES BIG TRAIN

Berlin, April 19.—Ten persons were killed and at least 30 were injured when an avalanche overwhelmed a train near Irkutsk in eastern Siberia, according to dispatches received here Sunday.

Rescuers extricated the 40 dead and injured passengers from the wreckage and are searching for others.

Cedartown Churches Open 2-Week Revival; Business Houses Close

Cedartown, Ga., April 19.—(Special.)—Simultaneous revival services began in all the uptown churches here today and will continue for two weeks. These meetings will be held by the First Presbyterian church, the First Baptist church and the First Methodist church. St. James Episcopal church has just finished observing Lenten services and therefore will not enter this revival. However, the rector, Rev. W. F. Moses, and his congregation are cooperating heartily in this movement.

The Ministerial Association of Cedartown some time ago decided better results would be obtained if each church holding its own meetings rather than a union meeting. However, all the churches are working in union; and cottage prayer meetings have been held throughout the city this week, to which members of all denominations indiscriminately attended. Rev. Richard C. Wilson, Jr., of Cartersville, will assist the local pastor, Rev. C. L. Power, at the First Presbyterian church. Dr. C. W. Daniel, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Atlanta, will assist the local pastor, Rev. M. H. Massey, at the First Baptist church. Dr. L. M. Twigg, the pastor of St. John's in Atlanta, will assist the local pastor, Rev. V. E. Lanford, at the First Methodist church. Smith Richardson, of Gainesville, will have charge of the music at the Methodist church.

U. S. CENSUS FIGURES DISCLOSE DECLINE

New York, April 19.—There were 114,314,000 people in the United States, excluding Alaska, at the first of this year, according to the national bureau of research.

This figure shows a slight decline in the rate of population increase, probably traceable to immigration restrictions, as only 315,000 aliens entered the country last year. For sixteen years, the research bureau says, the average increase was 1,560,000, or 1.35 per cent, but in 1924 the increase was 1,027,000, which is equal to 1.44 per cent.

Wagner Again Crowned King By New York Opera-Goers, Displacing Italian Composers

Maria Jeritz Signs Contract To Sing at Least Two More Years With Metropolitan.

New York, April 19. — Richard Wagner again is enthroned king in the hearts of New York opera-goers. For the first time since the war, the works of the German master during the season of 1924-25 led all others in number of performances by the Metropolitan Opera company, supplanting the Italians, who had reigned since 1917. The Metropolitan tonight closed the season with "Il Trovatore."

a record season in point of attendance. A review shows there were 176 opera performances in the Metropolitan opera house and 47 outside New York, in Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Cleveland and Rochester.

Jeritz Signs for Two Years. Announcement came today from the office of Giulio Gatti-Casazza, impresario of the Metropolitan, that Madame Marie Jeritz, the company's brilliant Viennese soprano, had signed a contract to sing with the Metropolitan for "at least two more years."

Madame Jeritz, one of the company's stars since 1921, sailed today for Europe with her husband, Baron Leopold von Popper, without committing herself on this point, but asserting that she would return to America in September.

The return of Wagner saw nine of his operas presented a total of 32 times, seven more times than the Italian Verdi was heard from the Metropolitan stage. "Lohengrin" led in the Wagnerian score with six performances, followed by "Tannhauser" and "Die Meistersinger" with five each. Strauss, Janacek and Weber were the only other composers of operas sung in German, making a total of 44 performances of 14 operas in the German list.

Italians Lead Germans. The combined number of Italian performances continued to outnumber those of the Germans, with 100 presentations of 23 different operas, the ever-popular Verdi leading with 25 renditions. Nine operas were sung in French a total of 35 times. Stravinsky's "Petrouchka" was the only ballet given.

On the road, the Verdi operas continued to dispute Wagner's ascendancy, being given nine times to eight for the German master's works. "Aida" and "Pazienza" shared first honors in the New York season with eight presentations. Janacek's "Janafu," with Madame Jeritz in the title role, was added to the repertoire, an experiment which critics received coldly. Other additions were Verdi's "Falstaff" and Debussy's "Pelléas et Melisande."

Sickness Takes Toll. The company had more than its usual share of accidents and illness. Typhoid fever in January deprived it of the services of its tenor, Giovanni Martinelli. The debut of Madame Nannie Larsen-Tolson, a newcomer from Sweden, had to be postponed in January when a horse stepped on her foot during a Wagnerian rehearsal. Curt Taucher, the German tenor, who suffered from the strenuousness of Wagner, when he fell the stage one night in March, broke two fingers and sprained both hands, but continued to fill the title role in "Siegfried."

A flurry was caused in mid-season by rumors of artistic discord between Madame Jeritz and Beniamino Gigli, the Italian tenor, whom she appeared in "Tosca," it being reported that the Viennese songbird had concluded one of her performances in tears. Official denials, however, were given to rumors that Madame Jeritz had refused to appear again and the season went on.

BANKERS GATHER FOR SPRING MEET

Augusta, Ga., April 19.—Bankers from every state in the union are gathering here today for the spring meeting of the executive council of the American Bankers' association, which will get under way tomorrow to continue through Thursday.

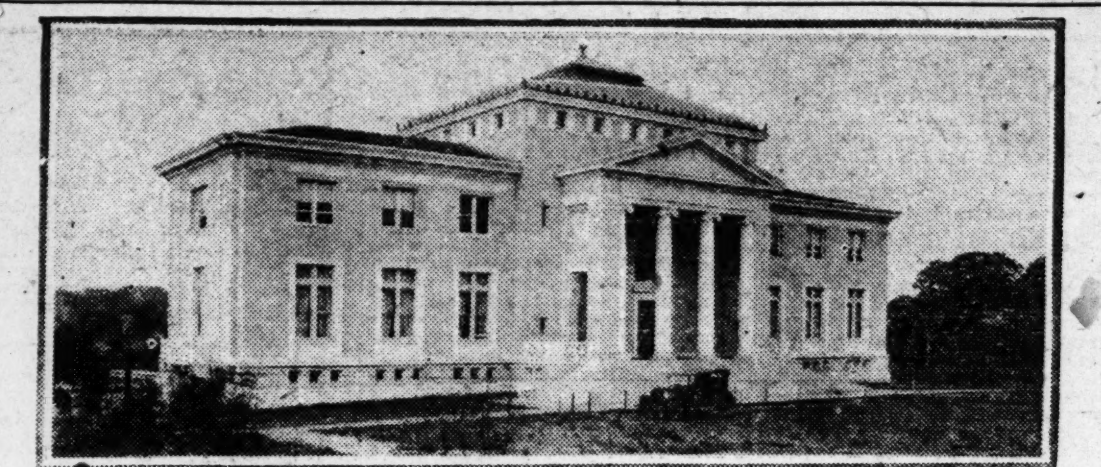

150 Bankers Attend. About 150 bankers, many of them accompanied by their wives, had arrived here by early tonight. A large number of them came on special trains, one of which was run through from New York, and two others from the west. President William E. Knox, head of the Bowery Savings bank of New York, and other officers of the association, except Melvin A. Traylor, of Chicago, second vice president, were among those who registered today. Mr. Traylor, who is president of the First Trust and Savings bank, was unable to attend the meeting.

Tomorrow's program is devoted to committee meetings and group conferences at which the work of the council will be thrashed out in preparation for consideration at the first general session of the council, scheduled for Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Another general session is scheduled for Tuesday night, with one each on the two succeeding days of the meeting. No intimation of the subjects most likely to be considered at the general meetings was being given out today by the bankers who had gathered here.

Entertainment features arranged for the bankers and their wives include a reception for tomorrow afternoon and dancing tomorrow night, golf, moving pictures and dancing Tuesday, golf and a family dinner on Wednesday, and a concert for Thursday night. Merle Thorpe, editor of The Nation's Business, is on the program for an address Wednesday night.

Many Subjects Covered. Shaping up of the general program of the meeting will be in the hands of the following committees, called to meet tomorrow: Agricultural commission, Canadian relations, clearing house section of the executive committee, economic commission, federal legislation, finance, insurance, membership, national bank division of the executive committee, non-cash items committee, public education, public relations, savings bank division of the executive committee, state bank division, state legislation, state secretaries section, state taxation, special committee on taxation, and the trust

War Memorial Building To Be Dedicated at Athens

Magnificent memorial on the campus of the University of Georgia, which will be dedicated Tuesday to the student-heroes of that institution who gave their lives for America in the World War. Hon. Newton D. Baker, secretary of war during the Wilson administration, will deliver the principal address.

Athens, Ga., April 19.—(Special.) Newton D. Baker's address here Tuesday morning, memorializing the University of Georgia boys who gave their lives in the service of America, will be the first event on the "Parents' Day" program which the university is holding on April 21-22. The purposes of "Parents' Day," which the university hopes to make an annual event, are:

Four Purposes. 1.—To cultivate and broaden the religious belief of the students at the University of Georgia. 2.—To enlist the more active interest and cooperation of parents, ministers and church laymen throughout the state in the work which is being done for the religious welfare of the students at the University of Georgia by the religious purpose in Georgia that has ever been taken.

3.—To emphasize the fact that the University of Georgia desires that religious work be done among the students. 4.—To encourage the churches to see that this is their institution as well as that of the state and to help the churches feel their responsibility to the students of their respective denominations at the university.

For the first time in its life of more than a century the university is reaching out to obtain the aid of parents and pastors of all religious faiths to help its faculty develop the life of the boys and girls who go there to equip themselves for their careers.

All Cooperate. The pastors and parents of university students have cooperated wholeheartedly with the university authorities in planning "Parents' Day" and there are indications that the two days will prove the most fruitful in the university's long history.

In addition to Newton D. Baker's address, which will be given at the War Memorial building, near the University of Georgia, which will be dedicated, two conferences on the religious welfare of the students will be conducted by university authorities, pastors and parents of the students. These conferences will be at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and at 9 o'clock the following day.

At the Tuesday afternoon conference, a division of the executive committee of the association, along with the reports of the officers, will be made at the general sessions of the council.

Summarizing statements of the various bankers attending the conference with regard to the recent trend of business conditions. President Knox, in a statement issued today, characterized as "deflation of over-optimism" the failure of business to respond to the rosy predictions made for this year, with no serious impairment of the basic elements of prosperity.

Crop Prospects Good. After saying that crop prospects were "very good" and that the rural sections are pervaded with a spirit of hopefulness, Mr. Knox, president of the First National bank of Birmingham, in a statement made public today, asserted "it may be just as well that prosperity has not come as the form of heavy buying, for the continued practice of economy, as evidenced by the lack of buying, will contribute to the good of the future."

COX STRESSES NEED OF NATIONAL GUARD

Colonel Charles H. Cox, adjutant general of the state and commander of the 122d infantry of national guard, was principal speaker at meeting of Fitzhugh Lee camp, No. 6, of the United Spanish-American war veterans, held Sunday afternoon at the auditorium.

Colonel Cox stressed the needs of the national guard in the present emergency, especially urged support of all military and civic organizations. At the end of the meeting the camp adopted resolutions urging that the next session of the legislature make more adequate provisions for maintenance of the national guard and also urged that all military and public spirited organizations join in similar resolutions so that the state may be properly protected at all times.

The camp also passed resolutions endorsing the American Legion endowment fund and the pledge of $100 made by Comrade S. C. Crane in the name of the camp and asked that all members of the organization send their contributions to Comrade Edward Naley, quartermaster, care of the Coca-Cola Bottling company, 400 Edgewood avenue.

An invitation from Mrs. William A. Wright, president of the Atlanta Ladies' Memorial association, asking the camp to participate in the Memorial day exercise and parade next Sunday afternoon, was accepted and the camp decided to ask Theodore Roosevelt camp and the Veterans of Foreign wars to join with Fitzhugh Lee camp in the bill are The DeLys Sisters and company, dancing and musical troupe; Garry and Baldi in "The Chauffeur and the Maid"; Hazel Crosby, American prima donna, in a cycle of new songs; and the Three Londons, comedy casting act.

SUPER-VAUDEVILLE BILL UPON PROGRAM OF LOEW THIS WEEK

Through the opening of a new Loew theater in Birmingham, Atlanta amusement lovers will get an opportunity of seeing a super-vaudeville bill at Loew's Grand theater this week. The new bill was sent south for the special purpose of christening the new Loew's Temple theater in Birmingham. "Pee Wee" Myers and Ford Hanford, two starring comedians appear as headliners. Other notable acts on the bill are The DeLys Sisters and company, dancing and musical troupe; Garry and Baldi in "The Chauffeur and the Maid"; Hazel Crosby, American prima donna, in a cycle of new songs; and the Three Londons, comedy casting act.

Countess of Lauderdale Here for Opera Season

The Countess of Lauderdale, formerly the Viscountess Maidstone, arrived Sunday at the Atlanta Biltmore, where she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gunby Mitchell during this week of opera which begins today.

Lady Lauderdale, wife of the Earl of Lauderdale, and Mrs. Mitchell formed a friendship in London two summers ago when Mrs. Mitchell was touring England and later were joint participants in the social gayeties of Palm Beach and other fashionable places.

The titled visitor will be the central figure in a number of social gayeties which have been planned for the week.

3 TO FACE TRIAL IN ROSSVILLE CASE

Rossville, Ga., April 19.—Beulah Kilgore, Dr. T. F. Madden and H. K. Martin, held in jail in Chattanooga in connection with the killing of Dan C. Quinn, member of a well-known family of this section, will be brought here Tuesday and given a preliminary hearing before Justice Ray Crove.

Beulah Kilgore was taken to the scene of the alleged crime by Tennessee officers Saturday and re-enacted the details of the killing. The woman, in the presence of the parents of the victim and a group of officers and newspapermen, pointed out the place where Quinn fell after being shot and the spot where his body was left near the Fort Oglethorpe street car track.

Quinn was killed on August 6, 1924, and the woman prisoner is said to have confessed that she was induced to shoot him by Martin and Madden. Robbery is said to have been the motive.

Who informed that she would be tried in Rossville, the woman expressed her fear of Georgia jails and Georgia courts. "They have some awful laws in Georgia," she said, "and I would rather take my chances in Tennessee. I hear that the Georgia jails are filled with moonshiners and cowboys and I don't like that a bit."

METHODIST SCHOOL HEADS HOLD MEET IN NASHVILLE, TENN.

Nashville, Tenn., April 19.—(Special.)—Southern Methodist headquarters here have been astir for several days over the annual session of the general board of education which assembled Wednesday, with Judge John S. Candler, of the North Georgia conference, presiding, in the absence of Bishop E. D. Mouzon.

Dr. William F. Quillian, president of the Western conference, is secretary of the important commission on the classification of colleges and is also the member of the board of education for the North Georgia conference. Both Dr. Quillian and Judge Candler were accompanied by their wives on their visit to Nashville. Dr. Elam F. Dempsey, secretary of education of the North Georgia conference, was an invited guest of the board of education and sat throughout its sessions. The Georgians upon the board took active part in all proceedings and the only law-making body of this church, which meets every four years. Also, they devised plans for the largest possible success of the Christian Education movement during this, its fifth year, and the last of the present quadrennium.

1 KILLED, 1 INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Waycross, Ga., April 19.—Mrs. Thomas Burns, 55, formerly of Augusta, Ga., was killed and her husband seriously injured near here this afternoon when the car Mr. Burns was driving overturned as he swerved from the road to avoid an approaching car. Mr. and Mrs. Burns were en route from California to Tampa, Fla.

COLUMBUS METHODISTS OPPOSE UNIFICATION

Columbus, Ga., April 19.—St. Luke, the largest Methodist church in Columbus, today elected delegation to the district conference that is opposed to unification of the northern and southern churches. The vote was 60 to 15.

J. W. BLEASE HELD FOR GREENVILLE POLICE OFFICERS

Under a charge of issuing a worthless check for $75, J. W. Blease, 41, former electrical supply merchant and contractor of Greenville, S. C., was arrested for South Carolina authorities Sunday afternoon by City Detectives Lou W. Evans and T. J. Harrison.

Blease, who stated that he is a second cousin of the former South Carolina governor, Cole Blease, has been engaged in local electrical work for four weeks. He was arrested at 79 Spring street, where he was rooming.

Blease stated that he could not account for the warrant against him in Greenville, but was certain there was a mistake somewhere, and expressed belief that he would be exonerated.

UNBREAKABLE GLASS DISCOVERY CLAIMED

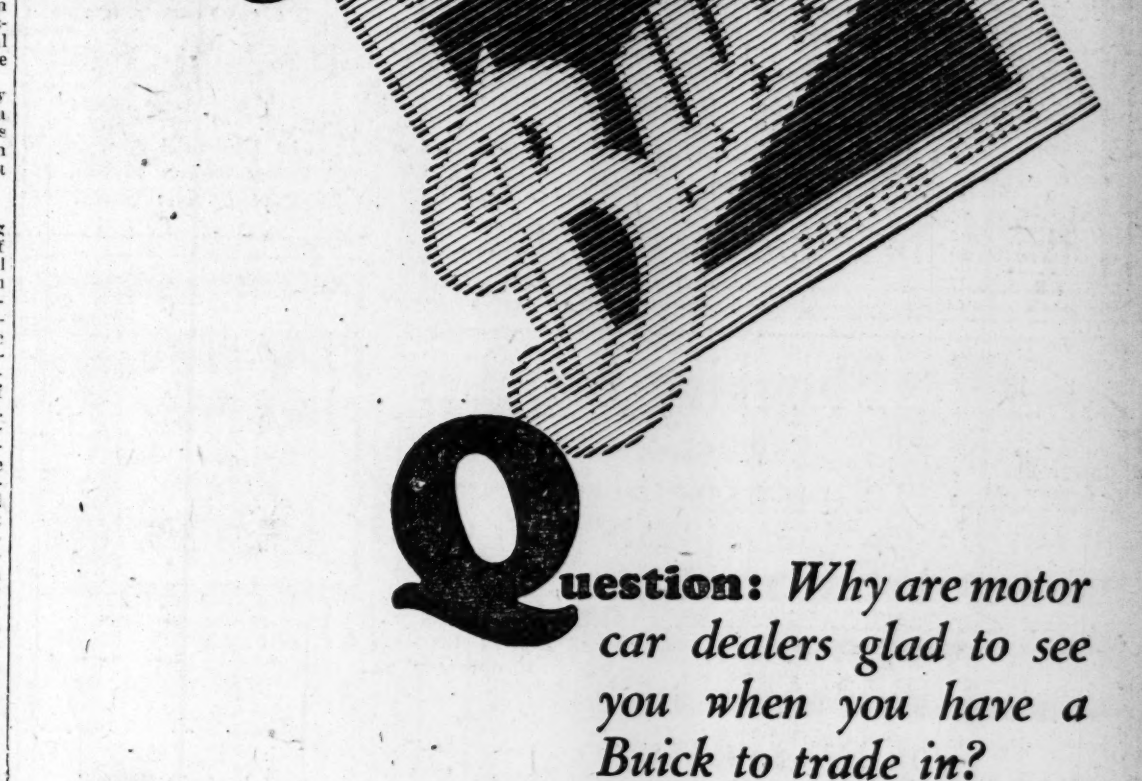

London, April 18.—Successful demonstrations have been given here of unbreakable glass, usable in spectacles and nose-glasses as well as for other purposes.

Specimens of the new glass have been struck with hammers, thrown on concrete floors, and fired at with shotguns. Eye-glass wearers, however, are waiting for the big test when someone drops a pair of unbreakable glasses about an inch onto a table or desk.

Feel All Worn Out?

ARE you dragging around day after day with a dull, constant back-ache? Do you feel stiff and achy; weak, nervous—all played out?

You should know, then, that these troubles are often due to imperfect kidney action. When the kidneys lag, there's slow poisoning of blood and nerves and an upsetting of the whole system. Your back aches; you have sharp, stabbing pains, headaches, dizzy spells, and often annoying kidney irregularities.

If your kidneys are inactive, help them with a tested diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. They are recommended the world over. Ask your neighbor!

MRS. W. C. MULLIN, 218 Oakland Ave., says: "I had dull pains in the small of my back that made housework a difficult task. I had a tired, worn-out feeling that made me miserable. My kidneys were weak and disordered and they caused all the trouble. I began using Doan's Pills and they gave me a permanent cure."

J. H. ASHLEY, carpenter, 289 Ormond St., says: "My back ached continually and when I stooped, sharp pains took me across my kidneys. My kidneys acted too often and broke my rest several times at night. I used Doan's Pills and my health improved rapidly. I am now free of kidney trouble and enjoy a lasting cure."

MRS. J. B. REEVES, 83 Bankhead Ave., says: "My kidneys were weak and disordered and my back ached from morning until night. My kidneys acted too often and headaches and dizzy spells were common, too. The trouble made me nervous. Doan's Pills proved to be just what I needed and they weren't long in putting my back and kidneys in fine shape."

Pretty Girls Become Prettier Drinking "Wauseka" Water

The unusual number of extra pretty girls seen in Atlanta at this time has received the old question of why Atlanta is specially favored in having so many pretty girls.

As this question is often asked by visitors they want to know by what laws of nature are the Atlanta girls and ladies so lavishly favored.

The question has "stumped" all authorities on pulchritude here in Atlanta for these many years for while the average person in Atlanta would say why that is easy, they were born good looking.

This explanation would be alright insofar as it pertains to pretty girls that inherited their good looks from their parents but how do they account for the big improvement of good looks of the average girl or woman that moves here from elsewhere.

Many years ago in a debate on this question one of the leading citizens of that time stated the main reason that Atlanta had so many pretty girls then and always would have them was that our drinking water possessed just the proper elements to bring about this effect.

If that old citizen was right over 30 years ago, then to the Pura Water company much credit is due now, for never in the history of Atlanta have we so many pretty girls and never have there been so many demands for "Wauseka" lithia water as there has been this spring.

This water is highly recommended by those that have been drinking it for years as it has a pleasant, teasing, pleasing taste that calls for more and when it is all said and done pure water is the best thing for the human system.

This water has been prescribed by leading physicians for many years for infantile diseases, treatment of which requires pure water without any traces of mineral or other matter.

Pura and "Wauseka" water is sold at drug stores, soda fountains and is delivered to the homes from the new up-to-date plant of the Pura Water company, at 21-23 Piedmont avenue, in cases of one-half gallon or five-gallon sealed bottles to all parts of Atlanta.

Due to the triple distilled process this water is treated until it is free from all impurities and being aerated (oxygenized) has a very pleasant taste and is very popular in the offices and the homes, and especially is this so with the ladies who drink large quantities of it for their health's sake.

The only boiler made that will steam on green, sticky in rainy weather in the winter time.

PIEHOFF STARS AS CRACKERS BEAT LOOKOUTS

Cincinnati, Cleveland Athletics Fight Challenge Of Senators; Both Gotham Clubs Hit by Injuries

New York, April 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Effective pitching of a variety rarely contributed early in the season, coupled with heavy hitting when only clusters of safeties would win, put Cincinnati and Cleveland in the pacemaker positions of the National and American leagues during the first week of the 1925 pennant race.

The Reds went to the front with a rush behind three sensational pitching performances by Donohue, Ely and Laque, the first of whom won two of the four triumphs posted by the senior circuit leader to date. Failure of Carl Mays' arm to round in 1924 form cost the team one game in their series with St. Louis, while the entire line-up strengthened its attack toward the close of the week, piling up 12 hits in the first game of the series.

The Athletics' impressive first week of 10 hits in two games with the Cardinals and Pirates, followed by a dash by Boston, fought off the challenge of the champion Senators Saturday and maintained a threatening position in the younger circuit under a barrage of base hits which interrupted during the week. A total of 50 safe drives hammered out by Connie Mack's club gave the former world's champions undisputed title to the outstanding feature of their play.

Both New York clubs showed unmistakable signs of weakness resulting from injuries and sickness among their regulars.

The week's major league record of games won and lost, runs, hits, errors, opponents' and home runs, including games of Saturday, follows:

Team	W.	L.	Runs	Hits	Errors	Opponents	Home Runs
Cincinnati	4	1	33	52	11	35	7
New York	3	2	21	38	7	26	6

LUKE WINS DUEL.
Cincinnati, Ohio, April 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Opening the season tomorrow, the South Atlantic league will have many of the case last year. Since the close of the 1924 season the circuit has been increased by the addition of Knoxville and Columbia.

Although the "Sally" of today has only recently blossomed from infancy, South Atlantic league, was born in 1904 and lived through many fat and lean years before the more important consideration in 1917. When the "league" became an "association," four of the five states represented in the membership. The league, represented in schedule: Knoxville at Macon, Asheville at Augusta, Greenville at Charlotte, Spartanburg at Columbia.

The season opens with the following line-up of managers: Knoxville, Eddie McDonald; Macon, Ernie Burke; Asheville, Bob Higgins; Augusta, Troy Agnew; Greenville, Sam Reck; Charlotte, Ray Kennedy; Spartanburg, Bernard "Mike" Kelly; Columbia, Olin Herritt.

Manager Herritt will be forced to use crutches to get to the bench to direct the Commodore tomorrow, the Columbia manager, following a broken leg sustained during the practice period last August won the pennant last year.

AUGUSTA BOY Crackers Leading Southern EXCELS ON LINKS

Memphis, Tenn., April 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Heavy hitting when hits meant runs has placed Atlanta and Nashville leading the Southern Association during the second week of the 1925 baseball season.

Both teams showed on top today, giving each five victories and six starts, and a comparatively comfortable lead at this early stage of the pennant race.

Raged fielding and indifferent pitching contributed to the poor showing by those teams left in the noogie. Mobile and the Memphis-Lit. for bottom position, who are tied with New Orleans, by virtue of their victory over Mobile, retains third place.

His Offset Bobbles.
While Atlanta made an even dozen errors during the first six games played, none proved costly, and heavy bat work offset these bobbles. Meanwhile, Nashville was credited with but seven miscues, but did not pile up the latter making a total of 78 hits.

Not a team of the southern circuit run to karnar at least one home run each produced three. Purcell, Bears, and Galloway of the Travelers, were the leading four-base clouters, each being credited them.

The week's Southern Association record, of games won and lost; runs, hits, errors, opponents' and home runs, including Saturday's games, follows:

Team	W.	L.	Runs	Hits	Errors	Opponents	Home Runs
Atlanta	4	1	38	64	11	41	7

Cracker Pilot Gets Triple With Bases Full in Eighth; Pelicans Play Here Today

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 19.—(Special.)—Chattanooga defenders fought desperately against a momentarily impending Atlanta victory for a series of awesome situations, only to have the Crackers overwhelm him in the eighth inning. Bert Niehoff's triple with the bases full turned series, 8 to 4.

The victory gave the Crackers five out of six as a starter for their season's play following the annual custom of getting a fast beginning at the expense of the Lookouts.

Previous to the eighth it had been a hilarious time for a throw about as large as that of opening day, with the Crackers reaching third, time and again with none out or one out without scoring, but it took gobs of curves and bunts to emerge from all these abysms and when the final spurge was being made.

Mike Burke's flashy left fielding, a tremendous throw to the plate by Olivares in the eighth and doubles by two pinch hitters, Johnny Bates and Rogers, in the ninth, were high spots of the Lookouts' play.

Two Batmen Hit.
The Crackers, though they were unbig blowers kept getting their hits all the while and showed the steady Pignas with equal steadiness.

There was no trace of the ill feeling stirred up between the players on the two teams in Atlanta, but the crowd reared a bit when Pignas hit Sedgewick with a spike and the latter tripped and fell. Sedgewick, who had been hit by the hof constantly, seemed to fear, knowing that there was considerable tension about the game.

Known existence of the ramrod hand contributed to the superb day at the home of the Crackers.

Zoeller opened with a double and took third on Niehoff's long fly, but good field to Knapp, who made a loop batted.

In the last half, with two out, Zoeller's liner and a double by Carl Burke's looper to right for a bag scored Dixie.

In the second, Smith walked, took second on a balk and scored on a batted ball. Zoeller, who had been hit by the hof constantly, seemed to fear, knowing that there was considerable tension about the game.

In the home fourth Pignas has his only unsteady session. Anderson lined hit to Pignas for a double and Zoeller hit Sedgewick, but Zoeller bounced out.

Cullop Trapped.
The Crackers had two men on in the third, fourth and fifth, but failed to register. Cullop hit in the fifth with two out and took third in the fifth. Zoeller, who had been hit by the hof constantly, seemed to fear, knowing that there was considerable tension about the game.

Membership Tea Is Feature of Drive.

A feature of the membership drive being conducted by the woman's division of the chamber of commerce was a tea given Friday evening to about 80 of Atlanta's most prominent business women, giving them an opportunity to know the organization, its plans, etc., with a view to becoming members.

Miss Susie C. Wallis, president, gave a splendid talk dealing especially with the beginning of the organization, and addresses were also made by Miss Lois Manning, chairman of the membership committee and in charge of the drive, and Mrs. Wilbur Colvin.

Quite a number of new members were reported at this meeting, and it is expected the membership will be greatly increased at the conclusion of the drive on the 27th, at which time the regular monthly dinner-meeting will be held. Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Gilbert entertained the guests with selections on the Hawaiian guitar.

Auxiliary To Hold Annual Meeting.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Atlanta Presbyterian church, beginning April 27 at 8 o'clock. There will be two sessions daily on 28 and 29. The convention will close with the installation of officers Wednesday afternoon.

Social Notes From Browne State College.

Dr. G. W. Camp, president of the college, attended on last Thursday and Friday the sessions of the State Teachers' association at Macon.

The contest in the field day exercises on April 1 resulted in the freshmen class winning the athletic banner with a final score of 83 points. The sophomore class was second with 74 points. Mr. Emmett Wilson for the boys, and Miss Helen Cook for the girls, made the highest individual scores.

The Halycon Literary society and the Adamson Literary society held jointly on last Monday evening the reading contest and the declamation contest. The young men declaiming were Messrs. Adel Spence, Earl Farrow, Ben Martin, E. C. Burns, James Fleming. The young ladies reading were Helen Cook, Myrtle Portwood, Esther Knudson. Others participating in the program were Miss Lovella Jackson, Mary Roman, Guthrie Harrison, Ray McWhorter and Professor E. Dillard. Bates Causey presided. James Fleming won first place and Earl Farrow second place in declamation, and Miss Helen Cook first place among the girls.

Story of Tonight's Opera

"La Gioconda"

Gioconda is a ballad singer (Soprano) who is in love with Enzo (tenor), a Genoese noble and captain of a ship which, as the first act opens, is in the harbor at Venice.

The scene is a Venetian street near the Adriatic shore. Gioconda supports her blind mother, La Cieca (contralto), by singing in the streets. Barnaba (baritone), a powerful police spy, is telling him of his wife's faithlessness. He has an unfortunate habit of saying the words aloud as he writes them, and Gioconda overhears him. She is shocked and heartbroken at the evidence of Enzo's double-dealing with her. She joins her mother and enters the church, leaving Barnaba, who is enjoying a festival. After the chorus Barnaba announces the beginning of a regatta and all hurry to the waterfront, except he, Gioconda and her blind mother enter and the police villain watches them from behind a pillar. La Cieca sings of her daughter's tender care and the song becomes a trio as Barnaba joins in, whispering of his plots to seize Gioconda.

Gioconda starts to seek Enzo, but Barnaba intercepts and attempts to force his attentions on her. She escapes—leaving him with rage. Barnaba tells the defeated contestant in the regatta, Zuanne (basso), that La Cieca is a witch. The crowd starts to mob the old woman when Enzo appears and rescues her.

Another Lover.

Alvise (basso) is chief of the council and his wife is Laura (mezzo soprano). They also enter and protect La Cieca. Laura was once engaged to Enzo and still loves him. Enzo recognizes her and when all the others enter the church, he remains gazing after her, and realizes that his old love has reawakened. Barnaba comes to him and tells him that Laura plans to visit Enzo secretly on board his ship that night. Enzo is delighted.

Next, Barnaba writes to Alvise, telling him of his wife's faithlessness. She is about to obey, as a dutiful wife again, when Gioconda pops up once more and swaps drinks, giving her a narcotic instead of the poison. Laura drinks this, and Alvise, seeing her drugged, believes her dead.

Celebrates Suicide. The newly-made "widower" then gives a ball in celebration of his wife's suicide (sweet thought). It is in this scene that the famous "Dance of the Hours" is given. Enzo is there, masked, and when Barnaba tells him that Laura is dead, he unmasks and denounces Alvise. But Alvise has him arrested. Then Alvise draws aside a curtain, shows the guests the body of Laura, and admits he took her life. Enzo tries to kill

Miss Norma Estes Is Feted Guest In Boston, Mass.

Miss Norma Estes, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Estes, is the guest of Mrs. Charles Stevens and Mrs. Harry Spaulding in Boston, Mass.

She has been entertained extensively, during her stay, at luncheons, bridge-teas and dinner parties. Miss Estes was central figure at two beautiful luncheons last week, one given at the Touraine and one at the Vendome, assembling members of society.

Supper-Dance At Biltmore On Monday

Initiating the social program planned at the Atlanta Biltmore during opera week will be the supper-dance following the opera "La Gioconda," at which several hundred guests will be entertained.

Mrs. Willard Brown and Mrs. Norman Dike, of New York, who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ellis, will be attractive honor guests at the party given by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newman.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Arley, Mr. and Mrs. Bolling Sasett, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. William Akers and Julian Camp will be together.

Miss Jean Wilson, of Hartford, Conn., will dine with Thomas H. Scott and Ericks Mell.

Mrs. Flora McDaniel Pitts will entertain in compliment to Mrs. Mae Coulcourn, of Roanoke, Va., the guest of Mrs. A. R. McMillan. The guests will include Mrs. Aurelia Roach McMillan, Miss Maad McMillan, Mrs. Bryan Wells Collier, Mrs. Moreland, Speer and Mrs. Pitts.

Mrs. M. B. Watson, Mrs. M. L. Bregor, Paul Duffee, Thomas H. Glenn, Mrs. Rosalie Mayer, Mrs. W. B. Disbro, Mrs. William Akers are among others who have made reservation for dinner.

Several parties have been arranged for Tuesday's supper-dance following the opera Falstaff.

Mrs. T. C. Olney, of New Orleans, the guest of Mrs. William Spaulding, will be honor guest at a party to be given by Mrs. Cline C. Hatcher. The guest list will number 12.

Miss Frances Hill and Miss Emily Warner, of Nashville, the lovely opera visitors of Miss Callie Orme, will be honor guests at a party at which William Sibley will entertain. Richard Courts and John Hopkins will complete the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ellis will entertain in compliment to their guest, Mrs. Willard Brown and Mrs. Norman Dykes, of New York. The guests will include Mr. and Mrs. John Little, Mr. and Mrs. J. John Watson, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. John Grant, Dr. E. G. Ballenger, Sam Dunlap, of Macon and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis.

Oriole Club Gives Dance.

An interesting occasion of the past week was the lovely dance given by the Oriole club at the home of Mrs. H. E. Ray on Ridge Crest road.

A profusion of dogwood, jonquils and dill blue attractively arranged throughout the spacious living room and dining room was used as decoration. Punch was served by Miss Marion Ray.

The invited guests were Miss Dorothy Toland, Miss Ann Harrison, Miss "Peggy" O'Neal, Miss Flora Mae Tumlin, Miss Elizabeth Patterson, Miss Mary Shropshire, Miss Dorothy Ray, Miss Louise Ellis, Miss Lilly May Venable, Mrs. Nettie Ewing, Miss Inez Sargent, Miss Florence Asken, Miss Virginia Shepard, Miss Lucile Quinn, Miss Maude Whaley, Miss Marion Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gossett, T. M. Sheffield, Jr., Raymond Smith, Lou Kimbrough, Kenneth Cooper, Jimmie Pent, Jean Gammage, Joe Norris, Freeman Darby and Nath Holleman.

General T. J. Shepard Is Honor Guest.

A social occasion of the week was the birthday party given by the Julia Jackson chapter, Chapter of the Confederacy, in honor of General Thomas J. Shepard on his 70th anniversary.

Heart-dice and dancing were provided as amusements for the young guests. More than 50 enjoyed the hospitality of the chapter. General Shepard was escorted to the beautifully-decorated dining table, in the center of which, placed on a bed of red tulips, was his birthday cake. The cake was decorated with a Confederate battle flag artistically done in icing, and it was lighted by 40 waxed candles.

Mrs. P. H. Cherry, the directress of the chapter, was assisted by Miss Aveney, Mrs. H. H. Johnson, of the Julia Jackson chapter; her mother, Mrs. John L. Harper; Mrs. Travis Brannon, president of the U. D. C. auxiliary; Mrs. P. H. Johnson, directress of the auxiliary; Mrs. A. D. Woodward, and others.

The Julia Jackson chapter enjoys the honor of being the oldest of children's chapter in the south and of having had a continuous existence for nearly 25 years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jay McKenna, of Boston, Mass., will spend opera week in Atlanta as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Larrabee, on Peachtree street. Mrs. McKenna was formerly Miss Isoline Campbell, one of the most popular members of Atlanta society. She will be entertained at a series of social affairs during her visit.

The Love Cycle

BY MILDRED BARBOUR

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS.

Jane suspects that Weston cleverly robbed her father and openly charges him with dishonesty. He reveals Marlowe's clandestine love affairs.

REVELATIONS.

Jane sat at the foot of her mother's couch and looked at the invalid with an expression that was half admiration and half pity.

Mrs. Marlowe looked very frail and blond and exquisite in her nest of pink cushions with an embroidered shawl flung protectively across her knees. The lace of her negligee were parted to reveal a throat white and smooth as a girl's. Her little ringed hands were still soft and pink-tipped. She had never touched them to menial tasks—a fact she liked to boast about.

Everything about her suggested the daintiness and delicacy of a woman of fashion who should be sheltered, cherished and protected always.

Jane's eyes grew sad as she looked at her mother, but she squared her shoulders and forced herself to her disagreeable task.

"I want to talk to you a few minutes, darling, about serious matters." She laid her strong, young hand on her mother's. "You see, we are really in a bad way financially. I was wondering, now that you are so much better, if we could not send the nurse away and let me take care of you. I honestly don't think that we can afford her salary after this week."

Mrs. Marlowe's eyes opened wide. She put her hand up to her throat as if she suffered actual pain.

"You can't mean that it is really as bad as that," she said in a horrified whisper.

Jane nodded. "I'm afraid there is no doubt about it, darling. Something will have to be done quickly. If you would try to get well, I can look for work somewhere."

Mrs. Marlowe uttered a little protesting cry. "Oh, never, not that, Jane! I could not bear it."

Jane shrugged. "We must have money. Of course we can sell the house and other things, but that won't give us an income."

"But your father's money," Mrs. Marlowe insisted. "I know he left a fortune. He would have told me if money was scarce and asked me to economize. It's that dreadful Weston. He has robbed your father. And he always pretended to be his best friend."

In her indignation Mrs. Marlowe forgot her role of invalid momentarily. She sat up, energetically and her eyes flashed fire.

That was what Jane wanted. Both the doctor and the nurse had long ago hinted that Mrs. Marlowe had simply chosen the line of least resistance. Her illness was mainly cowardice and was likely to be prolonged indefinitely unless some crisis brought her out of it.

"Father's lawyer is waiting until you are well enough to see him. He thinks we should ask for an investigation of father's affairs and make Mr. Weston give a public accounting. But, of course, that's for you to decide."

Mrs. Marlowe shuddered and covered her eyes with her fingers. "Oh, this, this, he'll be terrible! Think of the scandal—and it would get into the papers, too."

Jane shrugged again. "Better that than to lose everything."

"I suppose so," sighed her mother. She brushed aside the embroidered shawl and set her little slipped feet resolutely on the floor.

"Tell Maria to bring me the new black gown; I'm going to get up—and I wish you'd drive around to the lawyer's office and tell him I want to see him here after dinner this evening."

Jane was secretly elated. She saw that the cure had worked. It took a large burden off her young shoulders. She waited only to see her mother dressed and comfortable and seated again before the fire. The spirit lamp and the beef tea had been removed from the taboret, which now held a strong box containing papers and letters which had belonged to the late Mr. Marlowe. His wife was going through them carefully in the hopes of finding some clue to the missing fortune.

She had completely forgotten her nerves in her interest.

At the lawyer's office Jane was forced to wait a few minutes in an anteroom. She looked about her with interest. There were several girl clerks at work before desks and typewriters, looking very efficient.

The sight of them deepened Jane's determination to earn a living in the business world if the family resources failed completely. There was something honest and wholesome about these girls, which made her wince when she thought of the luxury and display under which she and her mother were living, a false luxury, which had scarcely a penny to back it.

So strong was her distaste that when she went out into the street she dismissed the waiting carriage which her mother had insisted upon her taking and struck out alone through the darkness. Somehow that simple act seemed to increase her self-respect.

Circle No. 1 Holds Regular Meeting.

Circle No. 1 of the Pryor Street Presbyterian church held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Aubrey D. Walker, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Hollingsworth, the president, gave a short talk on the work of the circle. After the business a social hour was given in honor of Mrs. Walker's birthday.

The color scheme of pink and white roses were used in decorating the home. Prizes were won by Mrs. Hollingsworth, Mrs. Hestley and Mrs. Jansen in a Bible contest.

Mrs. C. P. Floyd and Mrs. R. C. Towns presided at the punch bowl.

Those present were Mrs. E. L. Vinson, Mrs. J. P. Winn, Mrs. W. R. Jordan, Mrs. N. B. Bowen, Mrs. R. S. Calhoun, Mrs. Jessie Waldrop, Mrs. H. M. Warner, Mrs. Fred A. Hansen, Mrs. C. B. Coleman, Mrs. W. M. Hestley, Mrs. R. C. Towns, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Paul O. Bennett, Mrs. W. R. Brooks, Mrs. J. M. Walker, Mrs. J. L. Parker and Mrs. Hollingsworth.

PRESIDENT LEAVES ON SHORT CRUISE

Washington, April 19.—After attending church services today President and Mrs. Coolidge boarded the Mayflower for a brief cruise down the Potomac. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders were their guests.

San Francisco, April 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Severe tests are undergone nightly by watch and navigation officers of the United States fleet en route to the Hawaiian islands for a simulated attack on fortifications there. In fact, night is a time of thrills aboard every vessel. Darkness not only curtails the vision against possible submarines and destroyers, but makes exceedingly difficult the prevention of collisions among the 127 units of the fleet.

Danger of collisions is made greater by the maneuvers of the ships en route. The smaller, speedier craft must weave in and out among the larger ships to offer protection against supposititious mines, and "subs." At night, with ships darkened, this requires the utmost skill and caution on the part of navigators. When danger of submarine attacks is not great, the ships carry on their sterns purple blue battle lanterns, visible only a few yards away, as a safeguard.

"General quarters," the navy's call to the battle stations, coming at unexpected hours of the night, brings perhaps the greatest thrill of the maneuvers. All of the 40,000 officers and men, at this call, are required to drop whatever they are doing, or to arise immediately if sleeping, and man their stations as in actual warfare.

Widow Horsewhipped Baptist Missionary Upon Public Square

Weatherford, Texas, April 19.—The Rev. J. T. Lunford, Parker county Baptist missionary, who was horsewhipped in the Weatherford public square Saturday night by Mrs. Beulah Collins, 35-year-old widow, could not be found by his circuit parishioners Sunday.

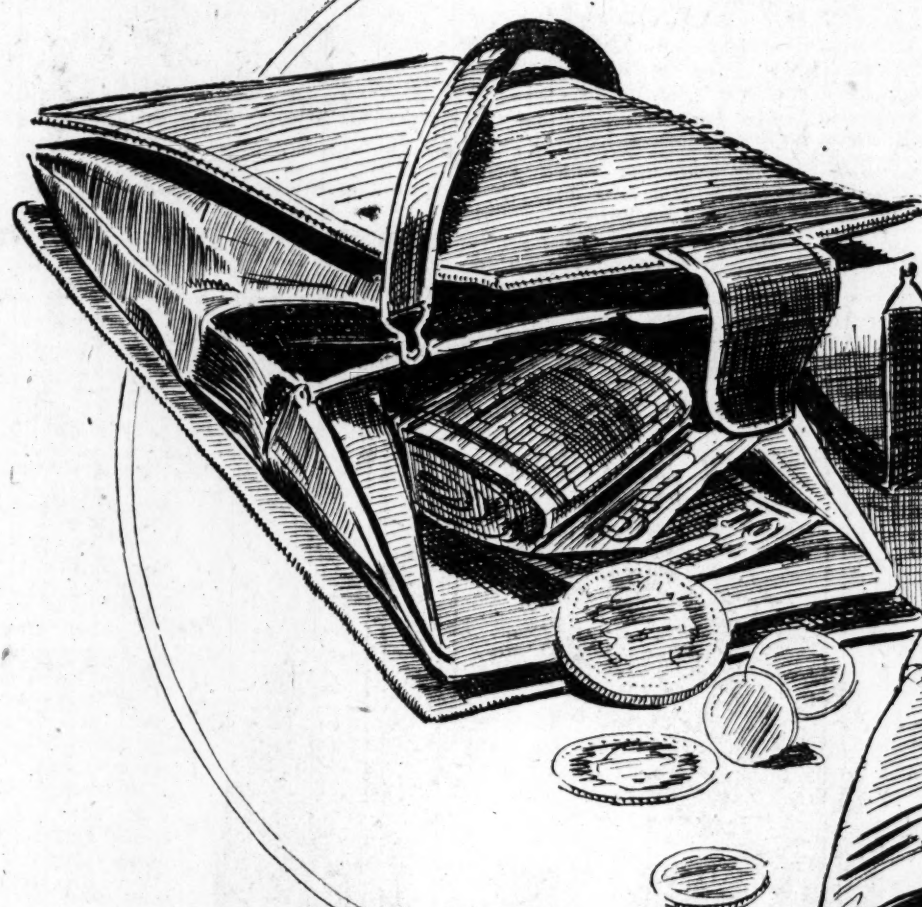

Mrs. Collins, who has retired to the seclusion of her home, refused to be interviewed and citizens of Weatherford are still speculating as to why she administered the flogging. One eyewitness to the whipping said Mrs. Collins accused the pastor of "humiliating her and defaming her character."

Mrs. Collins and the pastor met on the principal business street late Saturday evening. Mrs. Collins carried a short whip. Words were exchanged, and the woman brought the whip across the pastor's shoulders. The Rev. Lunford didn't run, but shouted for police. Mrs. Collins desisted when she became exhausted.

The most profitable advertising investment is that which produces inquiries or sales at the lowest cost each. A house-to-house analysis of newspaper reading habits in a group of representative American cities shows that 92% of the home-delivered circulation of morning newspapers remains in the home TEN HOURS EVERY DAY. It follows, therefore, that the greater portion of the advertiser's dollar invested in morning newspaper space buys contact in the home with the proper object of most retail merchandising efforts--THE WOMAN.

taken from nation-wide interviews with women home economists, physicians, educators, lawyers, regarding the influence of newspaper advertising:

"I have more time for my newspaper in the morning than any other time of day and believe that morning newspapers are the logical newspapers through which to reach American women."—Mrs. Chas. H. Milby—Public Official of Harrisburg, Texas.

Jones, M. D., Glendale, W. Va., Home Economics Association.

"Newspaper advertising plays a very important part in the economics of the home."—Lois P. Dowle, State President, Georgia Home Economics Association.

"The housewife usually devotes her evening to her family or to social affairs. She has more time for newspapers from eight in the morning until five in the afternoon."—Judge Virginia Henry Mayfield, Birmingham, Ala., Domestic Relations Court.

"The school girl today reads the daily paper more than ever. The morning newspaper is part of her training in English, Economics and Civics."—Sarah A. Packard, Dean, Naston Institute, Springvale, Maine.

"The newspaper published in the morning with ten hours daily life in the home is the logical medium through which to deliver messages to thoughtful women of America."—Mrs. Victoria Gardner, President Women Trade Union League of Seattle.

"Morning newspapers have more important articles of advantage to women as citizens and family managers. Why should there be a 'Woman's Page'? The entire paper is the woman's paper."—Harriet B.

The Constitution's Patterns

A PRETTY FROCK FOR MOTHER'S GIRL

4813. Printed crepe is here combined with crepe de chine in a plain color. This is a very good style for other wash fabrics, also for pongee and taffeta.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. A 10-year size requires 2-1/8 yards of one material 32 inches wide. If made as illustrated it will require 1-2 yard of plain material and 1-1/8 yard of the figured material.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

A PRETTY, SIMPLE FROCK FOR MOTHER'S GIRL

5056. Figured silk or printed crepe or chiffon could be used for this design. The style is also attractive in challis, gingham or pongee.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. To make of one material as shown in the large view, for a 6-year size will require 2-1/4 yards of 2-inch material. If made with the peasant sleeve portions 2-5/8 yards will be required.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

A DAINTY FROCK FOR THE GROWING GIRL

4477. Printed cotton crepe in blue and tan tones, with black velvet ribbon for trimming, is here portrayed.

The dress is a one piece model, over which the sleeveless overskirt is fastened. Lining would be nice for this style, or gingham. For bordered goods the dress is also attractive.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 10-year size requires 3-7/8 yards of 36-inch material.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our 12-TO-DATE SPRING & SUMMER 1925 BOOK OF FASHIONS.

In ordering patterns write name and address plainly on a sheet of paper. Order by number and enclose price in silver or stamps. Do not mail letter to The Constitution building in Atlanta, but address as follows: Fashion Department, The Constitution, 1188-99 Fulton street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE GUMPS—OMIT FLOWERS

dear Mr. McArdle, and possibly for the first time that the paper has not sent me on a wild-goose chase, and that there is inconceivably fine copy waiting for the world whenever we have the professor's leave to make use of it. I shall not dare to publish these articles unless I can bring back my proofs to England, or I shall be hailed as the journalistic Munchausen of all time. I have no doubt that you feel the same way yourself, and that you would not care to stake the whole credit of the Gazette upon this adventure until we can meet the chorus of criticism and skepticism which such articles must of necessity elicit. So this wonderful incident, which would make such a headline for the old paper, must still wait its turn in the editorial drawer. And yet it was all over in a flash, and there was no sequel to it, save in our own convictions. What occurred was this. Lord John had shot an ajouhi—which is a small, pig-like animal—and half of it having been given to the Indians, we were cooking the other half upon our fire. There is a chill in the air after dark, and we had all drawn close to the blaze. The night was moonless, but there were some stars, and one could see for a little distance across the beautiful plain. Well, suddenly out of the darkness, out of the night, there swooped something with a swish like an aeroplane. The whole group of us were covered for an instant by a canopy of leathery wings, and I had a momentary vision of a long, snake-like neck, a fierce, greedy eye, and a great snapping beak, filled with sharp, gleaming teeth. The next instant it was gone—and so was our dinner. A huge black shadow, 20 feet across, skimmed up into the air; for an instant the monster wings blotted out the stars, and then it vanished over the brow of the cliff above us. We all sat in amazed silence round the fire, like the heroes of Virgil when the harpies came down upon them. It was Summerlee who was the first to speak. "Professor Challenger," said he, in a solemn voice, which quavered with emotion, "I owe you an apology. Sir, I am very much in the wrong, and I beg that you will forget what I have just said."

It was handsomely said, and the two men for the first time shook hands. So much have we gained by this clear vision of our first pterodactyl. It was worth a stolen supper to bring two such men together, and it was only by keeping our shot-guns for ever-ready that we could feel safe from them. One funnel-shaped glimpse of it during the next three days. During this time we traversed a barren and forbidding country, which alternated between stony desert and desolate marshes full of many wild-fowl, upon the north and east of the cliffs. From that direction the place is really inaccessible, and were it not for a hardish ledge which runs at the very base of the precipices, we should have to turn back. Many times we were up to our waists in the slime and blubber of an old, semi-tropical swamp. To make matters worse, the place seemed to be a favorite breeding place of the Jaracaca snake, the most venomous and aggressive in South America. Again and again these horrible creatures came writhing and springing toward us across the surface of this putrid bog, and it was only by keeping our shot-guns for ever-ready that we could feel safe from them. One funnel-shaped

We had proceeded some five more miles when again we saw a white arrow upon the rocks. It was at a point where the face of the cliff was for the first time split into a narrow cleft. Inside the cleft was a second guidance mark, which pointed right up it with the tip somewhat elevated, as if the spot indicated were above the level of the ground.

It was a solemn place, for the walls were so gigantic and the slit of blue sky so narrow and so obscured by a double fringe of verdure, that only a dim and shadowy light penetrated to the bottom. We had had no food for many hours, and were very weary with the stony and irregular journey, but our nerves were too strung to allow us to halt. We ordered the camp to be pitched, however, and, leaving the Indians to arrange it, we four, with the two half-breeds, proceeded up the narrow gorge.

It was not more than 40 feet across at the mouth, but it rapidly closed until it ended in an acute angle, too straight and smooth for an ascent. Certainly it was not this which our pioneer had attempted to indicate. We made our way back—the whole gorge was not more than a quarter of a mile deep—and then suddenly the quick eyes of Lord John fell upon what we were seeking. High up above our heads, amid the dark shadows, there was one circle of deeper gloom. Surely it could only be the opening of the cave.

The base of the cliff was heaped with loose stones at the spot, and it was not difficult to clamber up. When we reached it, all doubt was removed. Not only was it an opening into the rock, but on the side of it there was marked once again the sign of the arrow. Here was the point, and this the means by which Maple White and his ill-fated comrades had made their ascent.

We were too excited to return to the camp, but must make our first exploration at once. Lord John had an electric torch in his knapsack, and this had to serve us as light. He advanced, throwing his little clear circle of yellow radiance before him, while in single file we followed at his heels.

The cave had evidently been water-worn, the sides being smooth and the floor covered with rounded stones. It was of such a size that a single man could just fit through by stooping. For 50 yards it ran almost straight into the rock, and then it ascended at an angle of 45. Presently this incline became even steeper, and we found ourselves climbing upon hands and knees among loose rubble which slid from beneath us. Suddenly an exclamation broke from Lord Rotton.

"It's blocked!" said he.

Clustering behind him we saw in the yellow field of light a wall of broken basalt which extended to the ceiling.

"The roof has fallen in!"

In vain we dragged out some of the pieces. The only effect was that the larger ones became detached and threatened to roll down the gradient and crush us. It was evident that the obstacle was far beyond any efforts which we could make to remove it. The road by which Maple White had ascended was no longer available.

100,000 PERSONS VISIT AVONDALE; HOMES ARE OPEN

Although three of the four residences at Avondale Estates which were used as a part of The Constitution's "Home Beautiful" exhibition have been sold, it was announced Sunday that arrangements have been made with two of the owners to keep them open for public inspection for some time to come. In addition, it is planned to completely equip another home, thus giving four model homes, completely furnished, ready for inspection at all times. A feature of the exhibition of these model homes has been the great attention paid to them by students in economics. Teachers in several Atlanta schools and colleges have brought their classes to Avondale, using these houses as object lessons.

St. Paul, Neb., April 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Mrs. Della Sorenson, 28, St. Paul, who was arrested yesterday on charges of murdering by poisoning seven persons, three of them members of her own family, over a period of seven years, today signed a complete confession to the crimes before County Attorney Doherty. She had made this confession voluntarily and of her own accord, because I want to tell the truth and because I am sorry for what I have done," Mrs. Sorenson said.

The last of those said to have been killed by Mrs. Sorenson includes her three-year-old daughter Minnie, who she confessed to poisoning in September, 1920. Mrs. Sorenson was arrested in 1920, after the death of her daughter, Minnie, who she confessed to poisoning in September, 1920.

Two of the children of the Mrs. Sorenson, Mrs. Sorenson's sister-in-law, who she confessed to poisoning in September, 1920, after the death of her daughter, Minnie, who she confessed to poisoning in September, 1920.

The first was her small daughter, Vola, who Mrs. Sorenson said she poisoned "because I had it in for her mother." This was in July, 1918. The second, a four-month-old boy, Clifford, died in August, 1922, and a third, a small daughter, Beatrice, died violently in 1920, when Mrs. Sorenson confessed to administering, but recovered.

The last of the series of poisonings was committed February 20, 1923, when Christina Brook went with her baby, Ruth, to the Sorenson home. Mrs. Sorenson said she poisoned "because I felt sorry for the poor infant because its mother did not care for it."

According to the confession, Mrs. Sorenson had a feeling of elation and happiness after the death of each person she had poisoned and then, after thinking of what she had done, she had a feeling of fear and tried to hide what I had done," she said.

When the fire department was called out on a general alarm at 10 o'clock this afternoon, the fire, fanned by a southwest wind, had already gained considerable headway. For nearly three hours the firemen battled the flames, which marines and sailors from the navy yard patrolled the streets to keep back the crowds of onlookers.

A number of the houses were tenements which burned rapidly. Their occupants were cared for by organizations of the city acting under the call of Mayor Thomas F. Stoner. Firemen were still pouring water on the smoldering embers at 11 o'clock tonight to prevent a recurrence of the flames.

The injured are Fire Captain A. West and Fireman T. Turner and W. D. Norris. They were rushed to a hospital where it was stated their injuries would not prove fatal.

HOLMES INSTITUTE SINGERS TO GIVE CONCERT MAY 17

Responding to requests of many white citizens, the third musical concert will be given in the auditorium at 3 o'clock Sunday, May 17, under auspices of the Holmes Institute.

The recital will be given by students of Holmes Institute and a selected chorus from leading colored choirs of the city. The program will be featured by plantation melodies and negro spirituals.

Rev. B. R. Holmes, president and founder of the institute, Sunday stated that the musical concert will mark the beginning of the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the institution, which will close May 31.

Mayor Walter A. Sims will deliver the opening address. Talks also will be made by J. H. Ewing, Oscar Mills, John S. Owens, Captain John Hope and others.

MORTUARY

A Word of Comfort.
You have to pass through a long period of tutelage before you are considered capable of being manager of a great business concern.

You do not live to make money and to enjoy luxuries and power and honor. You live to serve God through his channels and others. Before you are fit for His great tasks you must demonstrate your strength and courage and faith through many experiences, including sorrow.
